

Little Evidence Of A General Strike

GREEK KING FAVORS WAR WITH BULGARS; FIERCE BATTLE RAGES ON SOMME FRONT

Efforts Of Leaders To Launch A Joint Walkout Meet With Small Success

New York, Sept. 28.—Leaders of union labor appeared today to meet with small success in their renewed efforts to bring about their promised general strike to aid the striking traction employees, which was called to begin yesterday. Despite the claims of the leaders that the number who have quit work totals 125,000 and more, police officials said today that if a strike was in progress there was little evidence of it.

"If there is a general strike in this city we can't find it," said the secretary of the police commissioner.

Service on the elevated and subway lines continued normal today except for the withdrawal of a large number of cars owing to the decreased traffic due to the Jewish holiday and the general situation seemed to be about the same as it has been for the last week.

New York, Sept. 28.—Renewed efforts were made today to extend the general strike of all trades unions in this city and Westchester county, which began yesterday to enforce the demands of the striking street railway men. Only part of the total number of organized workers responded to the call on the first day, the estimate of the number going on strike ranging from five hundred to upwards of 125,000. The maximum figures were given out by the labor leaders.

Unions having a total membership of 164,000 are to vote on the strike today. One of the most important of these organizations is the New York Building Trades Council. It was announced that 7,000 brewery workers will strike today, but it is stated that these men have a trade agreement which permits them to have a holiday at this season of the year.

Members of the United Hebrew Trades, composing one of the largest divisions of trade unionism in the city, are celebrating the Jewish New Year today. Whether they will remain out on strike cannot be determined until next week.

Today is the beginning of the third week of the strike of the street car men. The traction companies assert their service is improving daily. Union leaders, however, see a possibility that the motion of the subway and elevated lines may join the strike as a result of grievances presented in their behalf by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Word has been received from Marsden G. Sentt, president of

COX MAKES CHARGES AGAINST THE WILLIS ADMINISTRATION

New Philadelphia, O., Sept. 28.—Newton D. Baker, of Cleveland, Secretary of war; Ex-Governor James M. Cox, U. S. Senator; Allice Pomerene, and State Auditor Vic Donahay, were the principal speakers at a Democratic rally here today known as "The Tuscarawas Valley 'Love Feast'". Put Sandies, defeated by Cox, for the Democratic nomination for governor, also was one of the speakers.

Auditor Donahay presided at the meeting which was held in his home city.

Secretary Baker in his address defended the work of the Wilson administration, paying high tribute to President Wilson's handling of the Mexican and foreign affairs, ex-Governor Cox reviewed his administration as governor and compared it with the present Republican administration of Governor Willis. Senator Pomerene took up the question of primary expenses of his opponent, Myron T. Herrick, and Auditor Donahay confined his address to a discussion of state issues.

Mr. Cox referred to President Wilson as the man "who stands out conspicuously as one ruler in all the world who maintains his poise and resolutely holds to the idea of keeping our people out of the madness of the times."

The former governor then attacked the present Republican state administration, charging that it had been the most expensive in the history of the state, despite the fact that Governor Willis had promised retrenchment in state expenses. He said that the present governor had asserted during the campaign of two years ago that there was a deficit in the state treasury, but that there was a cash balance of approximately eleven dollars was shown by the treasury report made public on the inception of the new administration. He stated that Governor Willis had charged the former administration with extravagance in having many offices located outside the capital, but that Willis had recently authorized the purchase of a great office building to house state officers.

Makes Charges Against Willis Rule

Mr. Cox then made specific charges against the present administration, stating that the spoils system had been allowed to creep into the civil service system, into the board of administration and into other state institutions that hitherto had been free from politics.

"Economy was promised and yet Governor Willis has spent more money than any governor Ohio has ever had," Mr. Cox stated. "For the first time in many decades, the income of the state has not been sufficient to pay expenses."

"In his Dayton speech, Governor Willis produced figures to show that some of the state departments are run for less money now than previously, but he didn't deny that his total cost grew over one million dollars."

The former governor attacked the stand of the present administration in regard to the workmen's compensation act, the tax laws passed by the administration, and other acts passed by the Republican party.

In closing, he said the Democratic platform pledges its candidates to remove the arbitrary features of the Parrott-Whittemore law, but guarantees no disturbance in the right of local taxing sub-divisions to elect their officers. This was in answer to the tax laws of the administration which Mr. Cox said permitted the county auditor to remove every assessor the people elect, if he so desires.

"The Parrott-Whittemore tax law," he said, "had been such a glaring travesty and force that the governor himself issued orders against its enforcement and removed a member of the state tax commission and the entire board of revision in Franklin county because the officials had by the mere administration of the law revealed its weakness."

Pomerene Discusses Campaign Expenses

United States Senator Pomerene, again took up the question of campaign expenses during the primary election and stated that the expenditures of Myron T. Herrick totaled many thousands of dollars. Statements filed under the corrupt practices act, he said, showed that Herrick and the Herrick voters' league, of Cleveland, alone spent more than $49,000, while accounts filed from many county voters' leagues showed that the expenditures were largely increased. "Republicans who watched the campaign," Mr. Pomerene said, "say that the actual expenditures may have reached one-half million dollars."

Senator Pomerene then turned to a consideration of the interests which desired the election of Mr. Herrick. He read letters purporting to show that Herrick was being supported by the Bankers' Association of Cleveland and by the committee of the Iron, Steel and Machinery Manufacturers. He stated that the principal contributors to the primary expenses of the Herrick campaign were bank officers, officers of iron, coal and shipping interests and directors of other corporations, representing in the aggregate, millions of dollars.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 28.—

Search was being vigorously pressed today for a gang of men, believed to number five or six, who late last night held up the New York-Chicago Express, east-bound, on the Michigan Central near Dorborn, 10 miles west of here, and after beating Fireman John Doherty into unconsciousness, made off with one pouch of registered mail. How much they obtained will not be known until postal authorities in Chicago and New York check up the registered matter. The coaches and Pullmans were not entered.

Two men boarded the train somewhere east of Ypsilanti, concealing themselves between two cars. Shortly before Dorborn was reached they climbed over the tender and covering the engine crew with revolvers, ordered them to continue until told to stop. Before climbing over they had unseparated the mail and baggage car from the rest of the train. The order to stop was given two miles beyond, Dearborn, and as the train slowed down, one of the men hit Fireman Doherty over the head with the butt end of a revolver, rendering him unconscious.

Engineer Charles Palmer was then taken from the cab to the door of the mail car. Showing him a bottle which the robbers said contained nitro-glycerine, they told him to tell the mail clerk to open the door or they would blow the car to pieces. The door was opened and the two holdup men entered the car with the engineer between them. One mail pouch was thrown out and picked up by third member of the gang.

The mail clerk was then looked in his car, and the engineer returned to his cab, where he was kept covered while one of the men drew the fire from under the boiler.

N. & W. TO SPEND OVER TWO MILLION DOLLARS FOR IMPROVEMENTS

Rosnoke, Va., Sept. 28.—Between two and three million dollars will be spent by the Norfolk and Western Railway within the next few months on extensive improvements at various points on the system, it is officially announced at the general offices here. The expenditures, it was said, was authorized by the board of directors at their monthly meeting in Philadelphia yesterday.

Among the improvements planned are the extension of the electrification system on three divisions; a new freight station and additions to the company's shops here. Purchase of fifty steel passenger coaches, mail, baggage and express cars and eight new passenger locomotives.

Retains Faith In Wife

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 28.—Hurrying to the bedside of his wife, the one survivor in the triple shooting in a hotel here yesterday, Joseph C. Leduc, of Chicago, today said that he had every confidence in her loyalty to him and that he would stick to her through all her trouble.

Mrs. Leduc, the husband said, has been studying opera singing for 10 years. Before her marriage she was Lillian Kappes, of Cincinnati, where her mother now lives.

THE RUSSIANS RESUME FIGHTING IN GALICIA

London, Sept. 28.—While no new advances for the infantry on the Somme front are reported by Paris today, the violent struggle is being kept up without cessation by the artillery.

The French have been thrusting out forcefully east from Ran-court into the St. Pierre Vaast Wood, at which point, and at Bouchavesnes, to the south, they are almost in a direct line north of Peronne, against which the speedy development of their enveloping movement is now to be expected.

Meanwhile activity has been resumed at Verdun, the Germans again attacking east of the Meuse between Thiaumont and Fleury. The assaults were repulsed by the French with heavy losses to the Crown Prince's troops, Paris declares.

The Russians have resumed their violent attacks in Southern Volhynia and Galicia, but report a stubborn defense by the Austro-German armies which are declared to be delaying the Russian advance by repeatedly counter-attacking.

From Macedonia come additional reports of a determined Bulgarian resistance to the entente offensive in the region west of the Vardar. The repulse of Bulgarian attacks upon the French and Russians near Florina is reported by the French war office. The Bulgarians have not resumed their attack on the Serbians at Kaimakalan, in which they are reported to have met with extremely heavy losses without success in their attempts to dislodge the Serbian defenders. The British are increasing their artillery activity on the Struma front near Janina.

Although so far as is known, Greece has not yet formally entered the war as an active belligerent on the side of the entente, the announcement is reiterated from Athens today that she will speedily take this course. King Constantine, it is said, affirmed his decision for an immediate declaration of war on Bulgaria.

The German Reichstag meets today in Berlin for what promises to be a possibly a short session, but nevertheless a stirring and important one. Interest in the session, is centered upon the speech of Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, particularly as to what allusion he might make to the subject of peace.

"Tank" Which Started For Berlin On Its Own Account, Attacked By Germans With Avidity Of Prehistoric Men Stalking Wounded Mammoth

BRITISH FRONT IN FRANCE. (Via London, Sept. 28.)—In the lull which has occurred after the great two days' battle in which five villages and 5,000 prisoners were taken by the allies, the correspondent of the Associated Press has an opportunity to glean many stories from the participants in the struggle. These stories were not only of courage and heroism but of a humor and paradox possible only in such complicated and remorseless warfare.

The most wonderful of all the tales told was perhaps that of one of the tanks, or new armored motor cars, which started for Berlin on its own account. This monstrous land ship, ambling and rumbling along did not wait on the infantry after the taking of Gaedecourt, but plodded over shell holes and across lots looking for its prey like some pre-historic lizard. In course of time it found a German trench but as it engaged the occupants with its machine gun it ran out of gasoline.

When the Germans found this strange creature, with its steel hide impenetrable to bullets, stalled, curiosity, and a desire for revenge was a flip to their courage. They went after it with the avidity of pre-historic man stalking a wounded mammoth whose bulk was fast in one of the alleys of the cave dwellers. No such game was ever seen on this western front, marked as it has been by all kinds of bizarre fighting.

GERMANS STALK BEAST

According to accounts given by the British officers with veracious solemnity, while the tank's machine gun blazed right and left some of the Germans managed to creep along the trenches under the forelegs and hind legs of the crouching beast. Then they swarmed over it looking for an opening through which to strike at its vitals. They fired their rifles into joints and bombed it all over but to no more avail than burglars trying to reach the inside of a battleship turret with a jimmy. All the while the tank's machine guns kept busy at the human targets in reach while its crew, chosen dare devils, concluded to stick until they starved or the Germans found the proper can opener to get them out.

Finally the British infantry in the rear, seeing the tank in distress refused to wait on any general's orders that they should remain at the objective which they had gained. They were out to save that impounded tank and with a cheer they rushed the Germans and overwhelmed them. When the crew heard the laughing and shouting in English they opened the door and called out: "We are all right if you will only get us some more juice so that the old girl can have a guzzle of her proper drink and we can take the road again."

So the infantry formed a line in front of the tank, determined to defend her to the last man while a runner was hurried back for a can of gasoline. The gasoline arrived safely and the beast, having taken a swallow, ambled back into reserve amidst wild cheering. It left behind 250 dead Germans, according to its commander.

"TANK" HELPS TOWN

Another tank which did well in this fight assisted in the taking of Thiepval. There was once a chateau in Thiepval. The cellar is still there, roofed by the remains of the dwelling, bricks, stone and mortar in a thick shell of pounded debris which protected it from penetration by even 9 and 12-inch high explosives. Here the Germans waited, smoking their mild cigars and drinking soda water which was brought up through shell-proof underground tunnels, while the ruins over their heads were being taken a swallow, ambled back

Loan Advantages

10. You can pay your loan in full at any time. With our DEFINITE CONTRACT PLAN you can always do this. With a straight loan you cannot always do this. This feature is of great value if you should want to sell and the buyer should want to pay cash. Straight loans are some times sold to outside parties and this causes many inconveniences. Our loans are never sold and you will always find us at our place of business during business hours and we will assist wherever we can.

Wm. Bridwell Robbed By Two Gypsy Women

William Bridwell, who makes his home with his son, Rev. Morris H. Bridwell, of 1310 Offshore street, and who is spending this week at the Collins Compton home at Pond Run, was robbed of $7 and some small change by Gypsy women on the road near the Compton home about 5:30 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Mr. Bridwell was walking on the pike when the Gypsy band happened along. He consented to have his fortune told and as soon as the women left, Mr. Bridwell missed his pocketbook. There were two women and Mr. Bridwell thinks one robbed him while the other told his fortune. Squire Veasy was notified and he in turn notified Sheriff Smith and Constable Andy Sissel at Buena Vista. The Gypsy band continued down the road toward Buena Vista but up until 10 o'clock Thursday morning they had not arrived there.

Gypsies Skiddooed

A traveling band of gypsies was taken into police custody Wednesday afternoon following a raid the children of the party made upon Ramey's grocery near Gallia and Monroe streets. The youngsters helped themselves to candy and fruits. Mayor Kaps banished the tribe from the city.

Farmers Parade Was Held This Morning

Notwithstanding the threatening weather and the sickness of Otto Zoellner, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the Farmers' parade, there was a parade, although it was not long nor were there any floats. The Farmers' parade had been announced and true to the spirit of the times, there was a parade.

Headed by the River City band, it marched through the principal streets at 10:30 o'clock. It was short. A few automobiles, several farm wagons and some horses. But there was a parade.

Behind the River City band, came an automobile bearing President Albert Zoellner, of the Business Men's Association and the two young ladies who accompanied the Consul General of Guatemala here to attend the Karnival. Two machines carrying the directors and chairmen of the different committees came next.

Several automobiles driven by members of the Concord Grange followed. Then five or six farm wagons, buggies and a few horsemen brought up the rear.

Runaway Couple Caught

Vanceburg, Ky., Sept. 28.—Tom Riggs, of Mayfield, and Miss Anna Yazzell, of Mayfield, started to elope to Portsmouth, but the would-be bride's father got in communication with Marshall Reid, of this place, and they were taken off of the eastbound accommodation here. He kept the young lady at his home until Policeman Wm. Tolle came up from Mayfield and took her home Monday morning.

To Resume Y. W. C. A. Gymnasium Classes

Miss Edith Brittain will again conduct Y. W. C. A. gymnasium classes in the High School gymnasium on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, beginning the first week in October.

The room has been equipped by the Board of Education with a supply of gymnastic apparatus, which will make the classes even more interesting and profitable than they were last year. The Aesthetic Dancing class of last year will be continued into advanced work and a new class will be started. It is hoped to conduct a normal class which will give those attending experience in supervising plays and games for children. If each church would send two or three of its members to this class, the problem of taking care of the children of the church would be in a large measure solved.

The tuition for all classes, except the advanced Aesthetic Dancing class, will be one dollar for ten lessons. One dollar and a half will be charged for the advanced class. If you are thinking of joining any one of the classes, go now to the Y. W. C. A., pay your tuition and receive a receipt which you will present on entering the class. No money will be received at the gymnasium. A large enrollment in the classes is anticipated this year.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to all our friends and neighbors for kindnesses and sympathy shown us during the illness and death of our husband and father, N. B. Dodridge. Also Rev. Darragh for his comforting words. Especially do we thank, Mrs. Lybrook, the organist, and the singers, and for the beautiful floral tributes and J. R. Morton for the efficient manner in which he conducted the funeral.

Thin Folks Who Would Be Fat

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Most thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are, when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, much of the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal amount of fat, the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can probably best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a careful combination of six splendid assimilative agents. Taken with meals they mix with the food to turn the sugars and starches of what you have eaten into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood and its rapid effect has been in many cases reported remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by Fisher & Streich and other druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

NOTE—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder and while excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc., have been reported, care should be taken about using it unless a gain of weight is desired.

Big Fraternal Parade Will Be Held Tonight If Possible

Only A Downpour At Parade Time Can Cause Any Change In Plans

According to a statement made by President Albert Zoellner of the Business Men's Association, at 2:30 this afternoon, the Fraternal Parade will be held tonight at 8 o'clock as scheduled, despite the heavy down-pour this afternoon. Mr. Zoellner conferred with Paul Esselborn, chairman of the Fraternal Parade, and they agreed that if the weather permitted, they would pull off the big parade tonight without a hitch.

With twenty-nine fraternal organizations in the line of march, the Fraternal Parade will form at Ninth and Chillicothe streets and march down the scheduled route, starting at 8:00 o'clock. The place of formation, divisions, aides, etc., are:

"I tell you what, I've quit using foot-patching for corns. I've quit making a nuisance out of my toes with bandages and contraptions—quit treating with knives and scissors. Give me 'GETS-IT' every time!"

When You See These Pretty Girls in Your Druggists' Window It's a Good Time to Buy 'GETS-IT'!

That's what they call the very first time they use 'GETS-IT'! It's because 'GETS-IT' is so simple and easy to use—put it on a few seconds—because there is no work or corn-patching to do, no pain that shoots up to your heart. It fits your corns and your feet. All you have to do is apply it. It's the clean, corn-free skin underneath—and your feet are good. So wonder no more! Buy 'GETS-IT'! It's sold and recommended by druggists everywhere. A little, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in Portsmouth and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Caburn's drug store.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 66.

Dear Miss Wise: I have read with interest the letter of "A Reader" in your column of last Tuesday's Times. As it certainly sounds stranger than fiction, it must be the truth. Now, for the lonesome man's consolation, let me say that if he is earnestly seeking a life partner, he could not find a better place than Portsmouth. There is a very large choice of "poor little business girls here," the young which he could train to his liking; the old veterans in service, if he does not want to take a speculative chance; the fat and the lean; the large and the small; the dark and the fair; the tall and the short; the pretty—and, oh, snuffs, this comparison has gone far enough. Most all of the business girls have to have "good common horse sense" otherwise they could not be business girls. And here's a suggestion: Let him add to his other desirable a little person, interest—the average girl is very fond of romance.

Dear Miss Wise: Which is the proper way to press a dark skirt that has pleats, on the wrong or right side, so it will prevent leveling a long streak where the under pleat or seam comes?

Dear Miss Wise: Is a girl supposed to have linens and other things when she is going to marry or is nothing expected?

Dear Miss Wise: Will you please tell me if skirts are to be wide this winter, also if the flare will be popular?

Dear Miss Wise: I should like to know how I could remove banana spots from a changeable red dress.

Dear Miss Wise: I am fifteen years old. Do you think it would be proper to talk to boy friends?

Here is a Son's Letter to His Father:

Dear Father:

I advise you to buy a Buick. In fact, I think a Buick is the best car, the best suited to our needs, by far one of the best in appearance, the best car in gasoline consumption, the best car on the market in the matter of repairs, the best car for the money there ever was or ever will be. Taken all in all, the Buick is the greatest car ever seen. Summing it all up, I think the BUICK is the very car we need.

WAR

Driving Wedge Into German Lines

London, Sept. 28.—The twenty-mile battle are running from the Ancre river to the Somme is rapidly being transformed by the great offensive of the Entente allies into an irregular triangular wedge in the German line, with the bases respectively in front of Thiepval and west of Peronne and projecting across the Bethune road and into the St. Pierre Vast wood.

On the British end of the line in the region of Thiepval, and eastward to the north of Fiers, the British in Wednesday's fighting gained further successes over the Germans, and likewise the French east and south-east of Mamcourt drove their troops forward and entered the St. Pierre wood.

To the south of this region from Bouchavesnes to the southern edge of the Bois l'Abbe farm the French were compelled to face a violent attack by the Germans, which was beaten off, the Germans being thrown back in disorder, according to Paris.

The British gains included German trenches on a front of 2,000 yards north of Fiers and a strong redoubt on a hill 2,000 yards north-east of Thiepval. To the northwest, across the Ancre, successful raids were carried out by the British opposite Beaumont-Hamel.

Ten thousand prisoners have fallen into the hands of the British in the last fortnight's fighting on the Somme front, according to the British.

On the Rumanian front battles are taking place at various points near the Transylvania border. Berlin reports progress for the Teutonic allies near Hermannstadt, while Bucharest chronicles the defeat of the Austro-Germans in the Jui Valley and their hasty retreat north and northwest.

Quiet prevails in the Dobruja region.

According to the Bulgarian war office, the Bulgarians have forced back the troops of the Entente allies over the whole front in Macedonia. Paris says three violent Bulgarian attacks on Kaimakochan Heights were repulsed with heavy losses.

Artillery duels continue along most of the Austro-Italian front.

In the fighting in Asiatic Turkey

TANK WHICH

labored vainly by the British artillery. They had the sense of security of an early Kansas settler when he went below and closed his cellar door during a cyclone. Of course they had a machine gun ready to welcome the British infantry instantly the British bombardment stopped. When that gun began rattling Mr. Thomas Atkins took cover and considered ways and means of silencing it. His meditations were interrupted by the appearance of a tank which, with elephantine deliberation, lumbered across trenches and, dipping its vertebraed ponderosity in and out of the shell holes made a quick finish of the cellar and its occupants.

The taking of Thiepval and the Zoller redoubt, which lies between it and Courcellette, was a wonderful business. Thiepval was held by the One Hundred and Eightieth German regiment, which had been there for a long time. According to prisoners, the defenders had fortified the commanding ridge with an amazing series of ramified tunnels and dugouts.

ASKED TO REMAIN

They had dug into the chalky earth with heavier-like industry while they were under shell fire. The men of the Hundred and Eightieth regiment asked permission to remain in Thiepval, giving their word that it would never be taken from them, and the German army commander consented.

Not only at this village but all along the ridge upon which hangs the whole Anglo-French movement was the same maze of warrens where the Germans lived with all the comforts of home. The Hundred and Eightieth had unloaded its brains to make Thiepval the very last word in this kind of defense. It was this sort of preparation which stopped the British attack on July 1. Then the British infantry charged after the artillery bombardment the Germans popped out of their hiding places, with machine guns and swept the lines of khaki with their deadly spray. It has been since July 1, the British have worked their way forward. Yesterday, when they went after Thiepval and the Zoller redoubt, the British soldiers, as one of the captured Germans said, were at the doors of the dugouts almost as soon as the last shell of the preliminary bombardment had burst.

A hurricane of shell fire kept the Germans in their burrows and when it had lifted the British had arrived. Though the Germans in many dugouts where their galleries were closed surrendered in bodies, in other instances they kept the faith that the Hundred and Eightieth would die before it ever surrendered Thiepval. All of yesterday the British were prying for the entrances to dugouts in the blackened ruins of the town amid the stench of all kinds of explosives as well as gas and lacrymatory shells. There was sporadic hand to hand fighting and at intervals Germans appeared from the bowels of the earth with their hands up and surrendered to the British soldiers, who were smoking cigars found in the German dugouts. An example of their persistent digging will do in the extension of cellars of buildings is given by Mouquet Farm, which the British took on the fifteenth. They blew in the month to all the entrances of dugouts that they could find and had advanced their line well beyond the farm when a British officer saw two Germans standing on a sort of slag heap close to his side. They beckoned to him and he thought that they were prisoners left behind by their escort, but as he went toward them one shot him dead. Both then disappeared in the earth. Later on other Germans came to the surface and began firing into the backs of a party of British pioneers who promptly dropped their shovels and took after the burrowers. When the pioneers returned after a fierce underground melee they brought with them as prisoners an officer and fifty men. It is supposed that the Germans here had found the forgotten tunnels of a mediaeval monastery and added auxiliary ones to suit their own purposes.

GERMANS LESS TENACIOUS

All observers agree that of late the Germans, when left in isolated strong points with orders to hold fast to the death, are less inclined than formerly to obey their instructions to the letter. An officer of the Second Prussian Guards reserve division who was captured yesterday, was in a state of exceptional disgust and expressed himself freely.

"We got no support from our artillery," he said. "The British had double our number of guns and three times as many airplanes while our aviators seemed to have lost their nerve. My battalion was always put in the worst possible position. Some of my men who were given Iteza automatic rifles threw them down without waiting to fire when the British charged. Machine gun squads and last ditch parties are left to stick in the face of the British guns and British charges with the assurance that if they stick it out, a counter attack will rescue them. But the counter attacks fail to materialize as they did at first. 'I gave in, I had enough.' However, the officers of the British staff spoke of this man in their dispassionate way as a man with a grievance and paid a tribute to the stubborn bravery of the Germans in the Zoller redoubt where he was taken.

The British spent today in taking ground in a number of smaller attacks in order to rectify their new line.

56 O. V. I. VETERANS HOLD ANNUAL REUNION

Close to fifty members of the 56th Ohio Veterans Volunteer Infantry gathered at G. A. R. hall on Gallia street Thursday morning at the thirty-second annual reunion of the regiment.

An enthusiastic business session was held after which the members gathered in groups and indulged in reminiscences.

At 11:30 the members, some accompanied by their wives, adjourned to Seel's parlors, where they sat down to dinner, close to seventy-five being present.

The menu consisted of escalloped oysters, escalloped potatoes, slaw, pickles, hot rolls, brown and white bread, ice cream, cake and coffee.

President J. D. Jones presided, and called on the different members for short talks. Civil War stories were recalled vividly and short discussions were held on the present European war. Every one enjoyed the splendid dinner, short talks and singing by J. W. Hank, of Jackson, O., only National and Department G. A. R. chorists.

After dinner and speech-making the soldiers gathered on the Market street esplanade, where Mr. Hank sang "The Old Flag Never Touched the Ground". It was on Market street in 1861 that the regimental flag was presented to the 56th O. V. I. The flag was torn with shot and shell in the many battles but a remnant of it is still left and was proudly carried today at the different meetings held, it being the first time it has been shown in public for a number of years.

A special car had been chartered and after the exercises on Market street the soldiers boarded it and rode through the old camping grounds, the car tracks on Eleventh street east of Offshore street rumble through the old commons.

After the car ride the soldiers and their wives went to the G. A. R. hall, where the following camp-fire program was rendered:

Song—America.
Invocation—Rev. Mr. B. F. Caudill.
Song—Prof. Hanks.

Masons In Charge

The funeral services of the late S. A. Moore were held Wednesday afternoon with Masons from Portsmouth and Trenton in charge. Interment was in the Greenlawn cemetery.

Mrs. Josephine Levernier

Death claimed mother of Scioto county's oldest residents at midnight Tuesday when Mrs. Josephine Levernier died at the home of her son, Lou Bashaw, on Pond Creek.

The deceased was over 80 years of age. Infirmities caused death. She spent most of her life on Pond Creek. She was married three times.

Mrs. Levernier leaves only one son with whom she made her home. Mrs. Levernier was a member of the Catholic church at Pond Creek. The funeral was held from this church at ten o'clock Thursday morning.

Mrs. Lucy Sheets

Mrs. Lucy Sheets, wife of Robert Sheets, died at her home at Taylor brick yard above Fullerton early Wednesday morning after a long illness of tuberculosis. The deceased leaves her husband and two daughters. She was about 35 years of age.

The funeral was held Thursday with burial at Harrison, Ky.

Oscar Meyers

Oscar, one year old son of William Meyers, a bricklayer of Eighth and Broadway, died Wednesday of cholera infantum. Besides the grief stricken parents the baby is survived by two little brothers and as many sisters. The remains will be taken to Wurland, Ky. Thursday for burial.

Miss Mary Edgerton

Miss Mary Edgerton, seventeen-year-old daughter of Mrs. William Edgerton, of South Portsmouth, died at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday morning after an extended illness of tuberculosis.

The deceased had many young friends who will be sorry to learn of her death.

Besides her mother she leaves one brother, William, and two sisters, Pearl and Eliza. The funeral will be held Friday, with burial at Siloam, Ky.

Mrs. Lucy Adams

The Vanceburg, Ky., Sun, Wednesday, of local interest said: "Mrs. Lucy Adams, relief of the late Rev. Eli P. Adams, died of old age at her home on Front street Monday about 9 a. m."

Mrs. Adams, who was 85 on the sixth day of last April, was a saintly old lady, who had spent a long and useful life raising a family of seven children, five of whom survive her. They are: Mrs. Louie Foster, Gilbert P. J. W. and A. P. Adams, of this place, and Frank Adams, of Spokane, Wash.

"She had been a life-long member of the Presbyterian church and her funeral was conducted at that church at Sandy Springs yesterday (Wednesday), afternoon at 2 o'clock, by Rev. A. K. Murphy, of Rushtown, O., after which she was laid to rest beside her husband in the Sandy Springs cemetery."

N. B. Dodridge

N. B. Dodridge, born May 29, 1850, died Sept. 21, after an extended illness. His wife, a circle of friends regretted to hear of his death as few knew of his serious condition. Mr. Dodridge was married October 7, 1877 to Elizabeth Parker of Concord, Ky. To this union seven children were born, as follows: Mrs. Edna Conley, Rome, O., Florence Bush, Wheelersburg, Wilbur, Edgar, Charlie, Alma, Percy, Fullerton. He also leaves nine grandchildren and one brother, Robert Dodridge, Manchester, Ohio. Mr. Dodridge had been suffering with heart trouble for the past four weeks, but took suddenly worse one week ago. His wife and children surrounded his bed at the final summons. The deceased had been engaged in farming most of his life. The past three years he worked for the Selby Shoe Co. He was a member of the Presbyterian church at Manchester, Ohio, and by his kind disposition made many friends. The pall-bearers were: Wilbur, Edgar and Charlie Dodridge, Eugene Callahan, William Burnett, Curtis Bush. Burial was made at Siloam, Ky.

TWO MEN HURT WHEN SWEEPED OFF BIG FLOAT

Roy Terrell, residing on Ninth street near Waller and Charles Elam of Rhodes avenue New Boston and who are employed in the electrical department of the Whitaker-Glessner company were badly injured during the parade last night.

When the top part of the huge float on which they were riding came in contact with the heavy branches of a tree on Ninth street just east of Chillicothe they were swept off it and fell to the paved street. Terrell had three ribs broken and was bruised about the head and shoulders.

Elam was badly hurt about the back and it is feared he was injured internally. Both men were removed to their homes in an emergency ambulance and given medical attention.

Knife Victim Held; Man Almost Runs Over The Mayor; Other Police News

Homer Martin, the huckster wagon driver, whom Teamster Ernest Sealf stabbed near the heart when he surprised him in his home late one night recently, was arraigned in police court Thursday on a charge of visiting a house of ill-fame.

Martin pleaded not guilty, denying that he had been caught in a compromising position with Mrs. Sealf. He also denied having boasted that he would leave town rather than testify before the grand jury when Sealf's case came up for consideration. Mayor Kaps said he would take no chances on him leaving and so fined him $25 and costs, he to stand committed to the county jail.

E. C. Zeke was the name given by a New Boston youth whose claim to being only 16 years of age was doubted by the court, as he looked older. He had been arrested for driving an automobile containing but one light and almost running over the mayor, chief of police and a party of friends who were standing in front of the First National Bank building after the parade Wednesday night.

Two structural iron workers giving the names of Sidney Walcott and Pete Waldorf were fined $10 each for creating a disturbance aboard a street car. The mayor announced that similar offenses during the Karnival would meet with $50 fines.

Three other structural iron workers giving the names of William Sullivan, Pat Kelley and Emil Rafferty were fined $5 each on drunkenness charges.

George Gilmore was the name given by a baker who was disorderly at the Merry-go-round. He and Charles Masterson, who tried to sleep off a jug in a straw pile at the rear of the Hotel Portsmouth, were fined $5 each.

Marcus Early denied that he had paraded the East End flourishing a hatchet Wednesday, but admitted striking Bartender Ed Sautleier with his fist because of an old grudge. He was fined $25.

The case of Mrs. Fannie Feigley for assaulting Mrs. John Burns was continued, owing to the absence of the plaintiff, the court expressing his gratification, saying, "The longer family quarrels are put off, the easier they are to heal up."

Early Arrested
Marcus Early was arrested for creating a disturbance at the Kello saloon, corner Eighth street and Campbell avenue, Wednesday afternoon.

Ralph Bihlman and Harold Streubler spent the week end with the former's grandmother, Mrs. Peter Montavon of the West Side.

If man was content we would still be traveling in coaches and on horse-back. America would be unknown. Electricity would be unknown and hundreds of utilities would never have been discovered. If you do a thing better, if you accomplish a purpose, if you discover a new idea—that's progress.

To Progress in Portsmouth Is Our Ambition

To make the new store a permanent institution, to flourish and grow with the city, to undersell competition, to serve you with the merchandise you want, to initiate new mercantile ideas, to serve you with what you want when you want it, to progress.

NUMBER SIX

(By Bertha Sellards, 801 Offshore Street)

Portsmouth, O.,
June 15th, 1916.

Dear Mother:

Well, everything is settled. It seems a bit queer to be a June bride.

The announcements of the wedding have been sent out and they looked very nice for the price. I paid, which was little. We (Hubby and I) had them printed at the Keystone Press Co., 808-810 Fourth street. This company is the best because they do good work and are reasonable in price.

Hubby bought the lot for our home from the sales agent, Merle
O. Duduit. It is in the Millbrook addition and faces Millbrook lake. It is the most beautiful place, was cheap and is near

John's work at the steel plant.
Hubby bought the windows and doors at the Leet Lumber Co., Ninth and Washington streets because they are reliable and reasonable.

We went to several hardware stores and finally decided on the Central because they had a good assortment of builders' tools. The Central is at 543-545 Second street.

We purchased our furniture at Alspaugh's, 530-532 Second street, because they have the right kind and price. I bought my piano at the Hutchinson-Wanser Piano Co., 1003 Gallia street. I bought it there because they had the best and cheapest.

Hubby just started down to

INDUSTRIAL-BOOSTERS PARADE ONE OF THE BIGGEST EVENTS EVER WITNESSED IN CITY OF PORTSMOUTH

Consul Of Guatemala In The Reviewing Stand; Whole City Turns Out; Steel Plant Captures Honors Of The Parade

Emblematic of that spirit of progress and boosting for which the citizens of Portsmouth have long been known, the huge Industrial-Boosters' parade—the inaugural parade of the Greater 1916 Korn Carnival—threaded its way down the principal streets of the city last evening, in a burst of real grandeur. The streets were filled with enthusiastic people who cheered themselves hoarse as division after division passed.

In the reviewing stand sat Hon. Ramon Bengoechea, consul general of Guatemala, and party, and the chairman of the various committees. This distinguished diplomat was delegated by the president of this well known Central American republic to officially represent him at the Carnival. The party enjoyed each minute of the parade and cheered every feature. "It was beautiful," exclaimed the consul general when the last division passed in review.

Stepped in the soft autumnal colors, waving to each gentle zephyr, with a myriad of blinking electric lights, Chillicothe street

A SCENE SELDOM WITNESSED IN CITY

Such a sight is seldom seen. Prancing horses, faultlessly decorated automobiles, marching men, elaborate floats, band after band, quaint costumes, pretty girls, majestic streamers and division after division. It grew in volume as it passed. It seemed as if it would never end. It took an hour and a half for all divisions to pass.

From beginning to end the parade held the interest of the thousands of sightseers. It was a superb attempt to depict the industrial life of the city and the boosting spirit which pervades the community. And it was one glorious success. Admitted by all. Not one criticism and thousands of commendations.

All of the city's industries deserve praise for their showing, and it in no manner detracts from the credit due them to state that the huge Whitaker-Glessner display is entitled to the banner

CERTAINLY, WE WERE THERE AND THEN SOME

With a broad white banner upon which was inscribed "The Portsmouth Daily Times," a drum corps with their throbbing martial music; the employees of the Times office passed in review. First came the office force wearing peaked Indian hats and carrying orange and black jack-o-lanterns which emitted a dull glowing light. When, behind two hundred lusty lunged Times newsmen carrying the jack-o-lanterns and entwined in a long yellow streamer which stretched down the street for over a block.

You cannot lose Uncle Sam when anything big happens. A United States mail wagon in gala

SHOE FACTORIES TURN OUT

Five huge trucks loaded with victorious girls, quaintly costumed entrants with the allied shoe factories. Snow white plumes, flowing streamers and intricate designs in colors formed the principal decorations of the machines in the squadron.

The employees of the Norfolk and Western railroad, riding in

HORSEWOMEN MADE A BIG HIT

Mounted on restless horses, thirty riders—men and women—passed in an easy canter. Some were dressed as the riders of the western plains.

There was a mule—a real live mule—there. It brought up the rear.

The real surprise of the evening and one of considerable import which brought a tremendous ovation was the wonderful part taken by the big Whitaker-Glessner company. "Every man of the day force is in there" was the unanimous verdict, as division after division of this great industrial passed.

The Whitaker-Glessner company marchers were headed by a squad of mounted firemen. Two men bearing a heavy strip of quality sheet metal upon which was printed "The Whitaker-Glessner company" followed. A huge American flag was next and it was dipped in salute to the

EACH DEPARTMENT WAS LIBERALLY APPLAUDED

The yard department passed and most everyone believed that the Whitaker-Glessner company's employees were surely past. But not so. On came the members of the mechanical department several hundred strong, followed by the members from the foundry department. They were headed by three mounted police, led by Col. Joe Bonzo and the Junior Order United Merican Mechanics band.

After the foundry employees passed came the carpenters and pattern makers and the painters. The 15 inch bar bill; the 18 inch bar mills and the construction departments were next.

Casting a ghastly blue white light over the street and buildings and hissing like escaping steam, a large float upon which sat several steel barrel makers, welding the seams of partially completed barrels together, manufacturing barrels on wheels. At the point torches the metal became glowing hot in an instant.

A truck load of completed barrels painted in the official Korn Carnival colors followed. A long line of marchers from the barrelchime garbed in gala attire.

CULLUM FLOAT CERTAINLY WAS A DANDY

"Look out we are invaded," was the shout when a huge levitation of the deep sea hove in sight. It was a monster of steel and glowing eyes, with a coning tower and all the paraphernalia of a submarine. It was the float entered by the W. J. Cullum company.

A late model of the Chevrolet automobile followed.

The employees of the Portsmouth Hat company were out in gaily costumed machines.

For some reason the parade halted in front of the reviewing stand. It was Al Windel in his automobile. The pesky thing would not start. Several passed before the trouble was located, then he threw in the clutch and joined the parade again.

An automobile decorated by the Portsmouth Supply company was next.

A piano mounted on a float represented the Portsmouth Gas company.

THE STOCKHAM COMPANY HAS BIG TURN OUT

A long line of ice wagons and produce wagons and trucks followed, each bearing the name of the Stockham company. On top of one of the wagons sprawled an ungainly looking fellow wearing a black eye. Over him hovered his wife apparently.

Driving a span of sleek black horses to a trim little buggy Henry Ruel led his fleet of wagons and street cleaners.

The Luther moving vans were next, followed by the Peerless moving vans.

Braddies' Portsmouth band struck up a lively march tune in front of the reviewing stand. Behind came a great hulking giant from Lehman's store. This creature of the crowd was accompanied by a dwarf.

A hower of white, with spotches of flowers, and an automobile carrying several from the store, represented the Marting Dry Goods company.

Trucks belonging to W. E. Cook and C. N. Smith came next.

Adam Pfau was represented by several bakery wagons, all dressed up for the occasion.

Horr Brothers entered a decorated car.

The Lion Brewing company had several prettily decorated machines in the parade.

STEINKAMP FLOAT WAS A DREAM

A real live minister and a genuine bride and groom at the altar of love represented the Steinkamp Furniture company. The originality of this float was the source of considerable commendation.

The float was one of the features of the parade.

A newly decorated automobile represented the Portsmouth Vulcanizing company.

Enhanced with gay decorations an automobile carrying the sales force of the Salvage company received a round of applause.

The Hilltop Bakery was represented by several wagons.

The Grand United Tea company was there with a wagon.

A group of decorated automobiles carried the employees of the Bragdon Dry Goods company.

The cars each carried a white stripe around the body and over the hood.

The Y. W. C. A. girls were out in force with several decorated machines.

A huge shoe mounted on an automobile bespoke the presence of the Winter shoe store. On the front of the machine rode a small Charlie Chaplin.

The Portsmouth Candy company entered a decorated machine.

George W. Ahrend and his sales force rode in a decorated

Ironton, Sept. 28.—Ernest McKee, 16 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe McKee of Sixth and Wyandotte streets, has been missing from his home since September 18, and it is believed that he went away with a street carnival. When he left his home he was clad in a blue serge suit of clothes, he has blue eyes and light hair. His parents are greatly worried over his continued absence and will appreciate any information relative to his present whereabouts. The boy has perhaps relieved more sufferers than any other known remedy in the same length of time. More than one hundred thousand bottles sold in the past four months under an absolute guarantee to give satisfaction or money refunded, and only three bottles have been returned. With rheumatism and lumbago unit they had been forced to give up their work because they could not use their limbs. Some who could not even raise their arms above their heads have been restored and are now glad to be free of their sufferings. This wonderful new remedy is so effective that it is being sold in every part of the country. It is now for sale by all leading druggists. Accept no substitute for there is nothing like it. Golden rule color only. Every bottle guaranteed to cure a bottle or money refunded. Geo. W. French.

THE ABOUNDING JOY OF IT

The annual Korn Karnival was off to an inspiring start yesterday. There was the furious ring and rip of hammer and saw in order to catch up preparation from a delayed start. Scores of booths from the severely plain to the fantastically fanciful and much brave attempts at decoration; the bands paraded, thousands hurried and hurried along the streets, seeking they knew not what, the barker and the merry-go-round spied and ground away and there ascended an indescribable mixture of sounds and noises; committeemen swelled and sweated, housewives and farmers confusedly sought places of entry for their products; at night there was the marvelous booster parade, a display of the greatness of Portsmouth as an industrial beehive that opened the eyes of even all us "natives" and made us puff and explode with pride, the vast well-dressed, eager throngs, swarming and jamming up and down, purposeless as the sticks and straws that drift and swirl upon the eddying waters.

Truly, it was a great demonstration, or show, whatever you may call it, but we fancy to think something different of it from its merely material side. As we sat at a window and the heat and toot of stirring air was borne in, there came the thought: "Here is something sweeter than the music of the best band in the state; the shouts and laughter of the swarming horde of children that follow in its wake; here is something more helpful than the parade of our achievements in trade and manufacture, the community dinner, served by the churches 'neath the roof of God's first temple, the arching trees—a community laying aside the difference and clash of creeds and feasting in good will and fellowship—a community forgetting hard toil and dull care and out for a wholesome frolic—the glory, the joy of being for the nonce a merry, light-hearted, united people.

AND STILL THEY ARE BROTHERS

In all the war news of the week, the one thing that struck us keenest and still lingers vividly out of the mass forgot, was the headline: "Germans Prove Heroes." It was a bit of a headline at that, but it blazes a grandly thrilling story, the defense of Combes. Nothing like it, we reckon, has ever been endured by men. Think of it, a troop isolated and alone, separated from their fellows by an adamant ring of other red-blooded fighters. The belching, the pound, the ripping and the tearing of the most infernal riot of shot and shell that the evil ingenuity of man ever gathered together and poured to destruction. Beleguered without possibility of rescue, beset without let, striving against hopeless odds, fighting until exhaustion dropped weapon from hand that death and wound had yet spared, "the Germans proved heroes." Scant tribute to the dead, hollow mockery to the living to speak of them as heroes. And, oh, the horrid cruelty and wickedness of it all. The men attacking were as gallant and brave as those defending. They did not know each other, they had no personal grievance to satiate, no individual wrong to avenge, and still they shot and slayed. Why can't they see, why can't those that master them and put them down to an inferno of slaughter realize that they are brothers. Aye, brothers in that common courage that faces death without flinching, brothers in the common image of a Creator, brothers in service and hope and final aspiration, enemies only when they are impelled by selfishness to ignore they are brothers.

Mr. Hughes is now challenging the Wilson administration to deny. The situation is always desperate when it reaches that stage.

The people of Portsmouth are said to be the best natured on earth. Go around and sample the different church benches and you will know why, if you understand that good nature is mainly a condition of the stomach.

Friends coming in from various parts to attend the Karnival, tell us The Times is the greatest paper printed. We have a suspicion that that effect ourselves, but we rather hesitate about whispering it to any one.

THE HEART OF MAN

(Columbus Journal)

From an article in The Saturday Evening Post, entitled "A Circuit Rider's Widow," the widow discusses on the heart of man, and thinks they are all alike. This is the way she looks at it:

It matters not whether he is a scholar, philosopher, saint or criminal, he is bound to be a man. And when you reduce him to that everlasting formula he is equal to the same temptations, to the same capacities for doing good or evil. He may show or conceal more or less of what is in him, but the very heart of him is the same as that of my neighbor across the street. And if I could tell what I know about him it wouldn't differ much from the truth about the greatest man or the meanest man living.

There is a deal of truth in that remark. Coming down to brass tacks, men are quite alike, not enough difference to justify any man in being worse than his neighbors. If all the inducements to be good and temptations to be bad were out of the question, men would seem as much alike as two dressed chickens. That is a strong declaration—if she could tell all the truth about a man it wouldn't differ much from the truth about the greatest man and the meanest man living. That woman has been a circuit rider's widow for nothing.

A WEATHER CRISIS

THE WOMEN, GOD BLESS 'EM

Referring, yesterday, to the West Virginia election fraud trials, we said we marveled at the sort of citizens, especially Democrats, whose party suffered altogether by them, West Virginia had, when they could so long endure such crude corruption of the ballot.

Of course, we were speaking of the male portion of the citizenry and not of the female. We rejoice to say the latter are all right, as they ever are, God bless 'em, and if the Democratic men had half the red blood in them that the women have there would have been a lot of desirable funerals in the Mountain State, and consequently, a whole lot more reasonably fair elections. They might have, for instance, gained inspiration from Mrs. Harrison Toler, who single-handed and alone bluffed the whole Hatfield clan, though their brother be governor at Charleston. Her husband was in jail at War Eagle, she testifies, on a charge of bootlegging, a popular and not altogether esteemed dishonorable occupation, in that particular section. He was released on a bond signed by Tom Hatfield, at the request of Greenway Hatfield. Afterwards Greenway wanted him to promise he would keep one of the Democratic judges away from the polls. Toler must have shied at this, because before election he was thrown back into prison, his surety surrendering him. After the election Mrs. Toler put on her poke bonnet and going over to the Hatfields, she said: "Greenway, they've got Harrison in jail again and they got to turn him out. If he isn't out by 1 o'clock this afternoon, I am going over to Charleston and tell all about these election doings." Before the clock struck one Harrison was a free man. No, we are not saying Mrs. Toler's action was highly moral. Fact is when a woman comes to succoring her own, we never think about the moral aspect of what she does, no more than she does. She's just a woman, responding to the primal instinct that God has put in her bosom, because he wanted her just a woman, and we like to believe that though there be something in her action that the fustiky may regard as indelicate, the Good St. Peter is looking elsewhere at the time and never gets it set down against her.

Bonnoke is experiencing a great religious revival. We are inclined to think religion that is acquired during a political campaign is most apt to stick.

Right out in the middle of Sixth we saw a glaring sign, "this street closed, no parking," and a half-hundred autos calmly reposed along the thoroughfare.

There is one thing about a band. Every time we hear one march and playing we want to be a boy, so we could follow along behind and "holler" too. Some more ancient and dignified citizens have confidentially confessed the same feeling to us.

Dr. James I. Walsh, of Fordham college, says hope should go along with medicine. So it should and the more hope the more ready is the medicine to cure.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.

O-O-MEINTYRE.

New York, Sept. 28.—Charles H. Towne, the magazine editor, and James Montgomery Flagg, the pen and ink artist, were riding together on a mission up New York state last week. It was a local train and at one station a farmer got aboard. He occupied a seat opposite them. Flagg finally engaged him in conversation. He has a farm of his own on Long Island and soon they were earnestly discussing crops and crop-conditions. Presently Flagg went into the smoker, leaving Towne and the farmer together. "That there is a mighty sensible feller. He's got a heap o' good horse sense," said the farmer nodding toward the disappearing figure of Flagg. "What does he do for a living?" "He 'He's an artist—pen and ink sketches?" "He's a which?" "He draws—illustrates magazine stories, novels—makes pictures of pretty girls and paints some, too." The farmer's face fell. For several minutes he gazed steadily through the train window at the passing landscape. "Well," he said at length, "they ain't none of us per—"

A. G. Turnipseed, candidate for congress, told an audience at Lawson, and Gallia, Tuesday evening, that Portsmouth was the pride and marvel of the Sixth district. Of course, said he you too are proud of your city, but I wonder if you realize, as do we visitors from the outside, how she is growing. Why, coming here at intervals of a month one can see the marked changes and improvements that have taken place. To you, I imagine, your town is much like a child with its parents, always a child, growing in stature every day, but still a child, until suddenly there comes something that makes them realize it has reached maturity. He is about right. There are many of us that pretend to believe we look upon Portsmouth as a city of proportions, but really we don't fully grasp the extent of her importance.

Now they are talking about two dollar wheat. Wouldn't you like to be the farmer man?

We are that proud over the display of apples, and we might say hopeful. Last year some of the exhibitors remembered us quite generously.

As we size it up free trade hasn't been so deleterious to the pumpkin crop, and we feel encouraged over the prospects to the by-product, pie.

Somehow, when we see the women stewing around and a half dozen rushing to serve us and hear another half dozen inquiring if we are being waited upon, we feel rather "pickanish", paying only a quarter for a dinner for an American citizen, weighing better than 200.

Certainly some weather for a start.

Snookens, Bookins

"Rap, rap, rap, rap—ap-pi!" pounded the woodpecker, "rap, rap, rap, rap—ap-pi!"

To Mother Beaver and Bushy, snug-gled down tight in the center of the clump of bushes where Sleepkins, the Bat, had sent them, that sound was about the nicest sound in the world, because it was the very sound they were listening for, and because you remember Sleepkins had told them the woodpecker could tell them how to get the dishes Mother Beaver longed for.

Mother Beaver sat up straight and called, "Is that you, Redhead?" The rapping stopped, and silence, a deep and fearful silence, filled the woods. "Oh, dear!" thought Mother Beaver, "now I've spoiled it all!" But she hadn't. The woodpecker was only waiting to be sure he wanted to answer.

"Yes," he finally said, "I am Redhead. Who are you and what do you want with me?"

Mother Beaver began at the beginning just as she had with Sleepkins, and she told the whole story about how she happened to be there in the Wigwagkaken country and how she wanted some dishes for her surprise party. "And can you tell me how to get some, please Redhead? I'll be so much obliged."

"To be sure I can! To be sure!" replied Redhead cordially. "You don't have to move out of these bushes to get all you want!"

"Good!" gaily, "good!" shouted Mother Beaver, but Mother Beaver didn't wait till she saw those dishes. Instead, she waited to hear more about how they were to be obtained.

Redhead rapped his bill against the tree trunk—once, twice, three times, all very solemnly. Then he said, "Listen! You are standing in the magic circle. All you have to do is—listen carefully now, I will tell you only once!—turn three times around to the left; three times

Redhead rapped his bill against the tree trunk—once, twice, three times

You may be sure that Mother Beaver had listened carefully—and Bushy, too, had lost not a word of what the woodpecker had said. He thought that if his mother forgot anything, he'd be there to remind her, you see.

The two beavers waited and watched till the woodpecker was Bushy, but Mother Beaver didn't wait till she saw those dishes. Instead, she waited to hear more about how they were to be obtained.

Every day that the TIMES is published, builders list their bargains on TIMES WANT AD page.

Next week New York society will attend the opening of a Temple to Terpsichore—a $100,000 building to be devoted entirely to uplifting the dance and preserving its most cherished steps. The building has been erected in Fifth-Seventh street, opposite Carnegie Hall by Louis H. Chalfi, the Russian Imperial Ballet director.

The building is seven stories high, of terra cotta brick, with mosaic trimmings. The entrance is of Italian marble. The large ball-room is on the third floor and there are a number of private dancing rooms. One floor will be occupied by Chalfi. At the opening the czar will be represented by the Russian Ambassador. The cream of the social-elect in Gotham will be present. It is the first building in New York to be erected exclusively for the dance.

Willie Collier—who likes to be known as William, but cannot—tells the story of an East Side buckster who was selling eggs to a bartender in Chatham Square. The bartender purchased two dozen from the basket and there was one egg left.

"Why don't you throw that egg in for extra measure?" he asked.

"Aw, Gee! I can't do that. That egg is my profit."

"Don't be a tightwad. Go ahead!"

"No. No. I can't do it. I'll tell you what I'll do, though; I'll give you the egg for a drink."

"Shoot!" said the bartender.

"What'll you have?"

"Mister, can I have anything I want?"

"Yes! What'll it be?"

"Well, I'll take sherry and egg."

Tom Graydon, the Harvard football idol, has been in New York this week from Cincinnati, and every time he goes into a restaurant where there are college men they stand up and cheer and Tom blushes and his hands fight a couple of rounds.

Town Topics referred to his "lovely golden curly locks," and Graydon wishes it was the open season for editors as he would like to put a couple. I was with him the other night in a Broadway cafe when an inebriated young man came over to the table and said: "Are you Tom Graydon?"

"No, indeed," he replied. "That is the over at that other table." And the young man went over and slapped "Diamond Jim" Brady on the back and gave three cheers for Harvard.

If The Folks In The World Were As Good As The World

If the folks in the world were as good as the world what a wonderful world it would be!

If the people would smile like the sun in the sky, if the people would laugh like the tree When it flutters its leaves, when it nods to the breeze, when it puts on the splendor of spring—

If the people would follow the sun and the tree, then the world were a wonderful thing!

If the folks in the world were as good as the world what a world it would be for us all!—Were as glad as the spring, as the summer as warm, and as free as the generous fall;

If the folks in the world, when the winter had come, would as patiently wait for the May—If the folks in the world were as good as the world what a world it would be all the way!—Douglas Malloch, in American Lumberman.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION
OPPOSED TO STRIKE;
ESTIMATE 125,000 IDLE

New York, Sept. 28.—Renewed efforts were made today to extend the general strike of all trades unions in this city and Westchester county, which began yesterday to enforce the demands of the striking street railway men. Only part of the total number of organized workers responded to the call on the first day, the estimate of the number going on strike ranging from five hundred to upwards of 125,000. The maximum figures were given out by the labor leaders. Unions having a total membership of 164,000 are to vote on the strike today. One of the most important of these organizations is the New York Building Trades Council. It was announced that 1000 brewery workers will strike today, but it is stated that these men have a trade agreement

TRAIN ROBBERS LOOT FLYER NEAR DETROIT

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 28.—A Michigan Central passenger train, due in Detroit from Chicago shortly after midnight, is reported to have been held up at Dearborn, 10 miles west of here. Two or more robbers are said to have uncoupled the engine and then gone through the cars. After stopping the train by disarranging the block system the men unhooked the mail and baggage cars from the rest of the train and drove them down the track a distance of two miles. Here they ransacked both cars, including the registered matter in the mail car and escaped after extinguishing the fire in the locomotive. The amount of booty obtained will not be known until the postal authorities have checked up on the registered mail. Several automobiles loaded with policemen and deputy sheriffs left Detroit for the scene immediately upon receipt of word of the hold-up. Gypsies Skidded. A traveling band of gypsies was taken into police custody Wednesday afternoon following a raid on the children of the party made upon Barney's grocery near Gallia and Monroe streets. ## TRIANGULAR WEDGE BEING DRIVEN INTO GERMAN LINES

EXPECT ANNOUNCEMENT OF ARRIVAL OF THE BREMEN; DEUTSCHLAND IS TO START

Berlin, Sept. 27.—In London Sept. 28.—News of the actual docking of the submarine Bremen at New London is still lacking, but the owners and the public generally presume that the telegram announcing the departure of a conveying tug from the American port will be immediately followed by the announcement that the voyage of the merchant submarine has been successfully completed. The Bremen took much longer on her voyage than was calculated would be necessary and, though the owners successfully concealed any appearance of apprehension, they have been waiting over a week anxiously for news. Director Heinke, owner of the Deutsche Ozean-Rhederei, said that he assumed the submarine had been delayed by the heavy storms which have been reported raging in the North Atlantic.

N&W TO SPEND OVER 2 MILLION DOLLARS FOR IMPROVEMENTS

Roanoke, Va., Sept. 28.—Between two and three million dollars will be spent by the Norfolk and Western Railway within the next few months on extensive improvements at various points on the system, it is officially announced at the general offices here. The expenditures, it was said, was authorized by the board of directors at their monthly meeting in Philadelphia yesterday. Among the improvements planned are the extension of the electrification system on three divisions; a new freight station and additions to the company's shops here. Purchase of fifty steel passenger coaches, mail, baggage and express cars and eight new passenger locomotives.

London, Sept. 28.—The council of Greek ministers has decided in agreement with King Constantine, upon military co-operation with the entente powers, says a Reuter despatch from Athens, dated Wednesday. London, Sept. 28.—The twenty mile battle are running from the Ancre river to the Somme is rapidly being transformed by the great offensive of the Entente allies into an irregular triangular wedge in the German line, with the bases respectively in front of Thiepval and west of Peronne and projecting across the Bethune road and into the St. Pierre Vaast wood. On the British end of the line in the region of Thiepval, and eastward to the north of Fiers, the British in Wednesday's fighting gained further successes over the Germans, and likewise the French east and south-east of Bannout drove their troops forward and entered the St. Pierre wood. To the south of this region from Bonchaynes to the southern edge of the Bois L'Abbe farm the French were compelled to face a violent attack by the Germans, which was beaten off, the Germans being thrown back in disorder, according to Paris. The British gains included German trenches on a front of 2,000 yards north of Fiers and a strong redoubt on a hill 2,000 yards north-east of Thiepval. To the northwest across the Ancre, successful raids were carried out by the British opposite Beaumont-Hamel. Ten thousand prisoners have fallen into the hands of the British in the last fortnight's fighting on the Somme front, according to the British. On the Rumanian front battles are taking place at various points near the Transylvania border. Berlin reports progress for the Teutonic allies near Hermannstadt, while Bucharest chronicles the defeat of the Austro-Germans in the Jui Valley and their hasty retreat north and northwest. Quiet prevails in the Dobrudja region. According to the Bulgarian war office, the Bulgarians have forced back the troops of the Entente allies over the whole front in Macedonia.

Big Games Start Today

New York, Sept. 28.—The four leading clubs in the National league race play here today and the local series may decide the pennant.

Brooklyn and Philadelphia, occupants of first place and second place will play the first of three games in Brooklyn.

Admirers of the Brooklyn players believe that if they can beat the Philadelphia two out of the three games the pennant will wave over the Brooklyn's field at the end of the season. On the other hand they realize that if Philadelphia takes the three games straight, Moran's club would have a strong grip on the flag.

The fate of the Boston National league club, so far as its pennant chances for 1916 are concerned, will be put to the test in the series of five games with New York which begins at the Polo Grounds this afternoon. The Boston players who arrived here last night are by no means confident. They realize it will require the best kind of playing to stop the winning streak of the 23 straight games which now stands to the record of the Giants.

Alexander will be pitted against Cheney in the pitchers' box for the opening game in Brooklyn.

Ankle Is Wrenched

Robert Quinn, son of Dr. W. A. Quinn, who is to be one of the backfield men on the P. H. S. football eleven this year, had his right ankle wrenched and badly sprained in practice Tuesday afternoon. An x-ray picture of the ankle has been taken to determine whether a small bone is broken. Quinn will probably receive in time for the first game but will be out of practice.

BIDDY IS HERE

Charles "Biddy" Beers arrived in Portsmouth Tuesday from Chicago. He finished the season with St. Joe, Mo. He joined his wife here who is the guest of her sisters, Mrs. Carlos Pyles and Mrs. Charles Morris. "Biddy" will soon go to Charleston to rent a house and will return Sunday for his wife.

DEAL COMES BACK

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Charles Deal, hard-hitting third baseman of the Kansas City American Association club, has been stricken by the Chicago Nationals, it was announced today. Deal formerly was with the Boston Nationals.

Will Play Series

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 27.—The Omaha club, winners of the 1916 pennant of the Western league, will play a series of games with the Louisville club, league leaders in the American Association, beginning October 1.

A double-header will be played October 7 and 8. The team which has the first four games in its credit will win the series.

President Wilson is to be asked to attend one of the games while he is in Omaha.

Kopf Is A Fixture

IRONTON ELEVEN ROUNDING INTO FORM

Ironton, Sept. 28.—In a practice game yesterday evening, a team composed mostly of lettered men of the high school played one of the scrub teams. Although the new men put up a grand defense and played rather good on offense the experience men showed them what football was. The game was played in ten minute quarters and rules of the game were observed. Coach Hixon served as referee and Fred Edwards as umpire. The men have rounded into form in surprisingly quick time and work as fighting machines. Progress is being made in the line and the "Shorty" Davis is as wiry and fast as ever. Several other men are showing up well, both experienced and new.

The game Saturday will be a good one and it is the first game of the season the townspeople should be out with the high school and give the team a good start.

FIRM INCORPORATES

The C. J. Moulton Company of Lucasville, was incorporated Wednesday for $15,000. The incorporators are C. J. A. S. F. W. J. M. and E. C. Moulton. The firm conducts a general store in Lucasville and was incorporated for the purpose of carrying on its business on more extensive lines in the future. The store is to be completely remodeled.

Secretaries Will Meet

D. Willard Gustin, secretary of the Scioto County Republican executive committee, will go to Columbus Monday to attend a general meeting of the secretaries of the county executive committees. A banquet will conclude the meeting at the Chittenden hotel.

Giants Keep On Winning

BOY HIT BY MACHINE

Raymond Stillwell, aged 6 years, a son of William Stillwell, steelworker, Washington street, left his mother's side and stepped from a curb at the Washington hotel directly in front of an automobile of Livermore George Russ, of Sciotoville, Wednesday afternoon. The boy was knocked down and the front left wheel of the car passed over his back, the rear wheel bumping up against his body. He escaped with bruises.

HAS ORDER REVOKED

Dr. W. A. Quinn after considerable telegraphing has succeeded in having revoked the orders he received recently asking him to go to Fort Davis, Alaska, to relieve a captain in the Army Medical Corps.

In June Dr. Quinn took an examination for surgeon in the army. He passed the examination and became a First Lieutenant in the Medical Reserve Corps. Shortly after troops were rushed to the border and Dr. Quinn received an order to report at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. He was out of the city at the time and as a physician was needed someone else was sent.

Several weeks ago he received another order for him to report at Fort Davis, Alaska. Fort Davis is some distance above Nome, Alaska, and after due deliberation he decided he did not want to go so far from his family. He communicated with the Sergeant General and finally succeeded in having the order revoked.

Auto Hit Bull

A Maysville, Ky., party en route Portsmouth to attend the Korn Karnival met with two accidents at Pond Run Wednesday afternoon.

Ben Reeves and R. G. Erwin, foreman with the Bates-Rogers Construction company at Maysville and their families were in an overloaded car when they ran into a bull in the road. The radiator of the car sprung a leak as a result of the collision. Al Turner came to their assistance and while he was pulling their machine with his car the Overland struck a rock in the road and was knocked from the road and ditched running into a telephone pole and tearing off a wheel.

New Manager For Brewers

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 27.—Owner A. F. Timme, of the Milwaukee baseball team, arrived home from New York yesterday and declared that he had been in conference with McGraw over Milwaukee's baseball prospects. He has arranged, he admitted, to get a McGraw graduate as manager for the Brewers next year.

THE ABUNDING JOY OF IT

The annual Korn Carnival was off to an inspiring start yesterday. There was the furious ring and rip of hammer and saw in order to catch up preparation from a delayed start, scores of booths from the severely plain to the fantastically fanciful and much brave attempts at decoration; the bands paraded, thousands hurried and scurried along the streets, seeking they knew not what, the barker and the merry-go-round speeled and ground away and there ascended an indescribable mixture of sounds and noises; committeemen swelled and sweated, housewives and farmers confusedly sought places of entry for their products; at night there was the marvelous hoister parade, a display of the greatness of Portsmouth as an industrial beehive that opened the eyes of even all us "natives" and made us puff and explode with pride, the vast well dressed, eager throngs, swarming and jamming up and down, purposeless as the sticks and straws that drift and swirl upon the eddying waters.

AND STILL THEY ARE BROTHERS

In all the war news of the week, the one thing that struck us keenest and still lingers vividly out of the mass forgot, was the headline: "Germans Prove Heroes." It was a bit of a headline at that, but it blazes a grandly thrilling story, the defense of Combes. Nothing like it, we reckon, has ever been endured by men. Think of it, a troop isolated and alone, separated from their fellows by an adamantine ring of other red-blooded fighters. The belching, the pound, the ripping and the tearing of the most infernal riot of shot and shell that the evil ingenuity of man ever gathered together and poured to destruction. Belonged without possibility of rescue, beset without let, striving against hopeless odds, fighting until exhaustion dropped weapon from hand that death and wound had yet spared, "the Germans proved heroes." Seant tribute to the dead, hollow mockery to the living to speak of them as heroes. And, oh, the horrid cruelty and wickedness of it all. The men attacking were as gallant and brave as those defending. They did not know each other, they had no personal grievance to satiate, no individual wrong to avenge, and still they shot and slayed. Why can't they see, why can't those that master them and put them down to an inferno of slaughter realize that they are but brothers. Aye, brothers in that common courage that faces death without flinching, brothers in the common image of a Creator, brothers in service and hope and final aspiration, enemies only when they are impelled by selfishness to ignore they are brothers.

THE COMMUNITY DINNER

Truly, it was a great demonstration, or show, whatever you may call it, but we fancy to think something different of it from its merely material side. As we sat at a window and the heat and foot of stirring air was borne in, there came the thought: "Here is something sweeter than the music of the best band in the state," the shouts and laughter of the swarming horde of children that follow in its wake; here is something more helpful than the parade of our achievements in trade and manufacture, the community dinner, served by the churches 'neath the roof of God's first temple, the arching trees—a community laying aside the difference and clash of creeds and feasting in good will and fellowship—a community forgetting hard toil and dull care and out for a wholesome frolic—the glory, the joy of being for the nonce a merry, light-hearted, united people.

Mr. Hughes is now challenging the Wilson administration to deny the situation is always desperate when it reaches that stage.

The people of Portsmouth are said to be the best natured on earth. Go around and sample the different church booths and you will know why, if you understand that good nature is mainly a condition of the stomach.

Friends coming in from various parts to attend the Carnival, tell us The Times is the greatest paper printed. We have a suspicion to that effect ourselves, but we rather hesitate about whispering it to any one.

THE HEART OF MAN

(Columbus Journal)

From an article in The Saturday Evening Post, entitled "A Circuit Rider's Widow", the widow discourses on the heart of man, and thinks they are all alike. This is the way she looks at it: It matters not whether he is a scholar, philosopher, saint or criminal, he is bound to be a man. And when you reduce him to that everlasting formula he is equal to the same temptations, to the same capacities for doing good or evil. He may show or conceal more or less of what is in him, but the very heart of him is the same as that of my neighbor across the street. And if I could tell what I know about him it wouldn't differ much from the truth about the greatest man or the meanest man living.

There is a deal of truth in that remark. Coming down to brass tacks, men are quite alike, not enough difference to justify any man in being worse than his neighbors. If all the inducements to be good and temptations to be bad were out of the question, a man would seem as much alike as two dressed chickens. That is a strong declaration—if she could tell all the truth about a man it wouldn't differ much from the truth about the greatest man and the meanest man living. That woman hasn't been a circuit rider's widow for nothing.

A WEATHER CRISIS

THE WOMEN, GOD BLESS 'EM

Referring, yesterday, to the West Virginia election fraud trials, we said we marveled at the sort of citizens, especially Democrats, whose party suffered altogether by them, West Virginia had, when they could so long endure such crude corruption of the ballot.

Of course, we were speaking of the male portion of the citizenry and not of the female. We rejoice to say the latter are all right, as they ever are, God bless 'em, and if the Democratic men had half the red blood in them that the women have there would have been a lot of desirable funerals in the Mountain State, and consequently, a whole lot more reasonably fair elections. They might have, for instance, gained inspiration from Mrs. Harrison Toler, who single-handed and alone bluffed the whole Hatfield clan, though their brother be governor at Charleston. Her husband was in jail at War Eagle, she testifies, on a charge of bootlegging, a popular and not altogether esteemed dishonorable occupation, in that particular section. He was released on a bond signed by Tom Hatfield, at the request of Greenway Hatfield. Afterwards Greenway wanted him to promise he would keep one of the Democratic judges away from the polls. Toler must have shied at this, because before election he was thrown back into prison, his surety surrendering him. After the election Mrs. Toler put on her poke bonnet and going over to the Hatfields, she said: "Greenway, they've got Harrison in jail again and they got to turn him out. If he isn't out by 1 o'clock this afternoon, I am going over to Charleston and tell all about these election doings". Before the clock struck one Harrison was a free man.

No, we are not saying Mrs. Toler's action was highly moral. Fact is when a woman comes to succoring her own, we never think about the moral aspect of what she does, no more than she does. She's just a woman, responding to the primal instinct that God has put in her bosom, because he wanted her just a woman, and we like to believe that though there be something in her action that the finicky may regard as indelicate, the Good St. Peter is looking elsewhere at the time and never gets it set down against her.

Roanoke is experiencing a great religious revival. We are inclined to think religion that is acquired during a political campaign is most apt to stick.

Right out in the middle of Sixth we saw a glaring sign, "this street closed, no parking", and a half hundred autos calmly reposed along the thoroughfare.

There is one thing about a band. Every time we hear one march and playing we want to be a boy, so we could follow along behind and "holler" too. Some more ancient and dignified citizens have confidentially confessed the same feeling to us.

Dr. James I. Walsh, of Fordham college, says hope should go along with medicine. So it should and the more hope the more likely is the medicine to cure.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.
O-O-MEINTYRE.

New York, Sept. 28.—Charles Hanson Towne, the magazine editor, and James Montgomery Flagg, the pen and ink artist, were riding together on a mission up New York state last week. It was a local train and at one station a farmer got aboard. He occupied a seat opposite them. Flagg finally engaged him in conversation. He has a farm of his own on Long Island and soon they were earnestly discussing crops and crop conditions. Presently Flagg went through the train window at the into the smoker, leaving Towne and the farmer together. "That there is a mighty sensible feller," said the farmer, nodding toward the disappearing figure of Flagg. "What does he do for a living?" "He's an artist—pen and ink sketches?" "He's a which?" "He draws—illustrates magazine stories, novels—makes pictures of pretty girls and paints some, too." The farmer's face fell. For several minutes he gazed steadily at the train window at the passing landscape. "Well," he said at length, "they ain't none of us per'aps?"

A. G. Turnipseed, candidate for congress, told an audience at Lawson, and Galia, Tuesday evening, that Portsmouth was the pride and marvel of the Sixth district. Of course, said he you too are proud of your city, but I wonder if you realize, as do we visitors from the outside, how she is growing. Why, coming here at intervals of a month one can see the marked changes and improvements that have taken place. To you, I imagine, your town, is much like a child with its parents, always a child, growing in stature every day, but still a child, until suddenly there comes something that makes them realize it has reached maturity. He is about right. There are many of us that pretend to believe we look upon Portsmouth as a city of proportions, but really we don't fully grasp the extent of her importance.

Now they are talking about two dollar wheat. Wouldn't you like to be the farmer man?

We are that proud over the display of apples, and we might say hopeful. Last year some of the exhibitors remembered us quite generously.

As we size it up free trade hasn't been so deleterious to the pumpkin crop, and we feel encouraged over the prospects to the by-product, pie.

Somehow, when we see the women stewing around and a half dozen rushing to serve us and hear another half dozen inquiring, if we are being waited upon, we feel rather "pieknamish", paying only a quarter for a dinner for an American citizen, weighing better than 200.

Certainly some weather for a start.

Snookens, Bookies

"Rap, rap, rap, rap—rap—rap!" pounded the woodpecker, "rap, rap, rap, rap—rap—rap!"

To Mother Beaver and Bushy, snuggled down tight in the center of the clump of bushes where Sleepkins, the Bat, had sent them, that sound was about the nicest sound in the world, because it was the very sound they were listening for, and because you remember Sleepkins had told them the woodpecker could tell them how to get the dishes Mother Beaver longed for.

Mother Beaver sat up straight and called, "Is that you, Redhead?"

The raping stopped, and silence, a deep and fearful silence, filled the woods. "Oh, dear!" thought Mother Beaver, "now I've spoiled it all!" But she hadn't. The woodpecker was only waiting to be sure he wanted to answer.

"Yes," he finally said, "I am Redhead. Who are you and what do you want with me?"

Mother Beaver began at the beginning just as she had with Sleepkins, and she told the whole story about how she happened to be there in the Wiggle-skake country and how she wanted some dishes for her surprise party. "And can you tell me how to get some, please Redhead? I'll be so much obliged."

"To be sure I can! To be sure!" replied Redhead cordially. "You don't have to move out of these bushes to get all you want."

"Goody, goody, goody!" shouted Mother Beaver didn't wait to say thank you, she went straight to the left, three times to the right, she shook her front paw and said, "Snookens, snookens, bookies, I want dishes for my party!" Then she looked down in front of her—and there—was the prettiest little set of dishes you ever saw! Right there!

Redhead rapped his bill against the tree trunk—once, twice, three times, all very solemnly. Then he said, "Listen! You are standing in the magic circle. All you have to do is—listen carefully now, I will tell you only once—turn three times around to the left; three times around to the right and then shake your front paw and say, "Snookens, snookens, bookies, I want dishes for my party!" but you have to wait till I get out of sight before you begin."

Redhead rapped his bill against the tree trunk—once, twice, three times

You may be sure that Mother Beaver had listened carefully—and Bushy, too, had just not a word of what the woodpecker had said. He thought that if his mother forgot anything, he'd be there to remind her, you see.

The two beavers waited and watched till the woodpecker came out of sight, then Mother Beaver began. She turned around three times to the left, three times to the right, she shook her front paw and said, "Snookens, snookens, bookies, I want dishes for my party!" Then she looked down in front of her—and there—was the prettiest little set of dishes you ever saw! Right there!

Next week New York society will attend the opening of a Temple to Terpsichore—a $100,000 building to be devoted entirely to uplifting the dance and preserving its most cherished steps. The building has been erected in Fifty-Seventh street, opposite Carnegie Hall by Louis H. Chalfi, the Russian Imperial Ballet director.

The building is seven stories high, of terra cotta brick, with mosaic trimmings. The entrance is of Indian marble. The large hall-room is on the third floor and there are a number of private dancing rooms. One floor will be occupied by Chalfi.

At the opening the czar will be represented by the Russian Ambassador. The cream of the social-elect in Gotham will be present. It is the first building in New York to be erected exclusively for the dance.

Willie Collier—who likes to be known as William, but cannot—tells the story of an East Side huckster who was selling eggs to a bartender in Chatham Square. The bartender purchased two dozen from the huckster and there was one egg left.

"Why don't you throw that egg in for extra measure?" he asked.

"Aw, Gee! I can't do that. That egg is my profit."

"Don't be a tightwad. Go ahead!"

"No, no, I can't do it. I'll tell you what I'll do, though; I'll give you the egg for a drink."

"Shoot!" said the bartender.

"What'll you have?"

"Mister, can I have anything I want?"

"Yes! What'll it be?"

"Well, I'll take sherry and egg."

Tom Graydon, the Harvard football idol, has been in New York this week from Cincinnati, and every time he goes into a restaurant where there are college men they stand up and cheer and Tom blushes and his hands fight a couple of rounds.

Tom Graydon referred to his "lovely golden curly locks," and Graydon wishes it was the open season for editors as he would like to get a couple. I was with him the other night in a Broadway cafe when an inebriated young man came over to the table and said: "Are you Tom Graydon?"

"No, indeed," he replied. "That is he over at that other table." And the young man went over and slapped "Diamond Jim" Brady on the back and gave three cheers for Harvard.

If The Folks In The World Were As Good As The World

If the folks in the world were as good as the world what a wonderful world it would be!

If the people would smile like the sun in the sky, if the people would laugh like the tree when it flutters its leaves, when it nods to the breeze, when it puts on the splendor of spring—

If the people would follow the sun and the tree, then the world would be a wonderful thing!

If the folks in the world were as good as the world what a world it would be for us all!—We were glad as the spring, as the summer as warm, and as free as the generous fall;

If the folks in the world, when the winter had come, would as patiently wait for the May—

If the folks in the world were as good as the world what a world it would be all the way!—Douglas Malloch, in American Lumberman.
